DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 04/06/2006 and 03/06/2006 has been entered.

Election/ Restriction

2. Said submission contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I. Claims 1-7, 13-15, and 21-23; and Species II. Claims 8-10.

3. The species are independent or distinct because of the distinct features as depicted in the figures and recited in the claims. In particular and as an example, claim 1 recites "one or more electrically conductive patterns for shielding", claim 21 recites: "an electrically conductive shielding pattern", and claim 8 recites: "at least one of the electrically conductive pattern or patterns is or are formed by using one or more dies to blank out and shape at least one region at or in".

In addition, species I and II in the present forms are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product, and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.05(j)). In the instant case, the intermediate product is deemed to be useful as a semiconductor device with a substrate incorporating pattern wiring, an electrical conductive pattern, and a terminal; and the species are deemed patentably distinct because there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants. To be more specific, although claim 8 requires “one or more electrically conductive patterns”, there is nothing on this record to show that said limitation, among other limitations, of claim 8 of Species II is the same or obvious variants of “one or more electrically conductive patterns for shielding” as required by Species I.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
